Day #5: Step In To The Future You

Hey lovely, here are your journaling prompts for today.

If you want a different outcome in life to what you're getting right now you have to be prepared to change the things you're doing, the way you're thinking and the person you're being. The change has to come from within first and is going to take action. It is SO important that you start thinking and being that future version of you right now, the more you do this, the quicker you will become her.

Today's journaling exercise is going to involve you going out to 12 months in the future and writing a journal entry as though you're reflecting on everything that has happened over the last year that you're proud of and happy with.

Ensure you use present and past tense language so you're writing as though it has already occurred. There is so much power in this exercise so be sure to go into detail for all areas of life. You can refer back to the wheel of life exercise from yesterday and make sure you write down your vision for each of those areas.

This is an exercise I do every year and honestly, when you pull it back out a year later, you will be blown away by just how much of it is true.

So an example would look a little like this....

"It's Friday..(fill in the date, 1 year from now) and I'm sat at home in the garden reflecting on the past year, it's been amazing. I have completely healed my relationship with food, I eat when I'm hungry, I stop when I'm full and as a result have lost weight, got back into that little black dress and feel awesome. I am so proud of myself for how consistently I have exercised and how toned and fit I feel.

I have been doing art classes and joined a new aerobics class and made some incredible friends...."

Go into all the details of what you have achieved, maybe you've got a new house, new car, new job, more time freedom, your health has improved, whatever you want write it down and please please please think big!

You are the creator of your life, you can have and create whatever you wish for (even if you don't believe this yet, know that it really is possible, plus what have you got to lose doing this exercise?)

First of all, let's brainstorm. What do you want in 12 months time? What are your goals? What would you love to create?

How does the future version of you feel, think, act, carry herself?

What does she do day to day?

Write your diary entry below. Remember...as though it has already happened. Let the words and ideas flow.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for writing a diary entry. The box is oriented vertically and occupies most of the page's width and height.

Based on what you've written above, what's the next step for you moving forwards from this point in time? What do you need to take action on?

Who do you need to be?

How will you ensure you stay on track?

Congratulations

Well done for sticking with these 5 days! You've been absolutely amazing and I'm certain you'll be walking away with some incredible new insights and amazing tools to put into practice.

Remember, this is just the beginning, there is SO much more to the The Mind Over Muffin Method that will help you completely transform your eating habits, lose weight and keep it off.

If you would like to continue working together and would like to discuss your options and what would be the best fit for you and what you are specifically needing. You can book in for a free 15 minute chat below. Together we can find what option is going to support you best.
